

TEDDIES CLASS

Little Hands, Big Achievements

Our sweet little Teddies have been hard at work, taking on a big challenge—learning to color with control and recognize facial features! They practiced coloring inside the lines of a special head-shaped page while also locating where to draw the eyes, nose, and mouth. These early learners are developing important skills as they carefully grip their markers, make intentional strokes, and express their growing understanding of how faces are formed.

Though it may seem like simple fun, these moments are building essential early learning foundations. Holding and controlling a marker strengthens fine motor skills that will one day help with writing, buttoning, and self-care tasks. Identifying facial features enhances spatial awareness and early problem-solving abilities as children decide where each part belongs. Most importantly, these little artists are growing in confidence as they see their own progress—one careful stroke at a time!

Little Hands, Big Achievements

This activity also gave us a precious opportunity to remind our Teddies that each face they create is special—just like them! Psalm 139:14 tells us, “I praise You because I am fearfully and wonderfully made.” Just as God carefully designed every tiny detail of their faces, He also created them with love and purpose. What a joy it is to celebrate their growth and uniqueness each day!

We are so proud of our Teddies and how hard they are working. Thank you for your continued support—we love watching your little ones learn and shine!
